Rodney Williams Jr. has the potential to be an excellent player at both shooting guard and point guard positions at the highest professional level. Rodney has excellent ball handling and passing abilities as well as excellent court vision and IQ, which makes it easy for him to make dynamic plays on the court for both himself and his teammates. He is a complete player on offense and can score with an array of moves around the basket at an elite level. Because of Rodney's size and explosiveness, he is able to finish plays while continuously getting fouled, and he is able to finish over bigger defenders. Rodney has exceptional athleticism which makes it easy to penetrate into the paint to create his own shot or get his teammates open to make a play.
